Your Supply Chain : Integrated!

Sharjah Business Summit

Khorfakkan lies outside the strait of Hormuz and its geographical location is unmatched...

An aerial photograph of the Sharjah Container Terminal. The terminal is a large industrial complex with numerous colorful shipping containers stacked in neat rows. Several large cargo ships are docked at the piers, and yellow gantry cranes are visible. To the left of the terminal are several large white oil storage tanks. In the background, the city of Sharjah is visible, including a prominent domed building and a large roundabout. The port extends into the sea, with more industrial structures and ships visible in the distance.

Sharjah Container Terminal was the first dedicated container terminal in the middle east when it started operations in 1976
